Not Enough for Sale to Supply the Urgent Demand.

It was not a particularly busy day on the Washington Stock Exchange, as the total dealings only aggregated 327 shares of stock and $13,300 in bonds. But what there was of it was of a somewhat strenuous character, and in the case of Gas stock, notably was decidedly on the strenuous character. Gas stock, notably, was decidedly aggressive, and howed that purchasers were looking around for good qualities of it and were willing to pay to secure it. Nearly every broker seemed to have orders, and they were more or less vociferous in letting their wants be known.

Apart from this, there was but little Team Standing. excite special attention. Railway to excite special attention. Railway common was quiet and fairly steady. Lanston was received with small favor. Telephone stock again appeared with no change in price. Mergenthaier was scarce and high, one lot of five shares bringing 215, while the bids on quotation lots also showed up strong. Ten shares of Traders Bank, the first in several weeks, brought 140, or 5 points better than last sale. Bonds were fairly active on a declining scale.

Saturday was the last day for depositing stocks for the merger of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company with the Greene-Cananea Company. It was announced Saturday morning, however, that deposits under the plan will be received up to June 1.
